

HOME WEDDING.

Made Beautiful by Its Simplicity.
Miss Aileen McNary and
Capt. Walter Powers
Wed.

PROMINENT YOUNG COUPLE
HAVE MANY FRIENDS.

Miss Aileen McNary, of San Jose, Cal., and Capt. Walter Powers, of Madisonville, were united in matrimony at the home of Dr. W. H. Hoffman, an uncle of the bride, last Sunday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Hopewell in the presence of a few invited friends and the members of the immediate families of the bride and groom. It was a home wedding made beautiful by its simplicity. The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion and presented a pleasing scene.

The bride is a young lady of most charming personality, and possesses many attributes of mind and heart that endears her to a large number of friends. Until a year ago she had been a resident of San Jose, Cal., having moved from this county some twelve years ago with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. T. McNary, who still reside there. Since coming to Madisonville, Miss McNary has been engaged in the millinery establishment of Mrs. Stueve in the capacity of head trimmer. She numbers her friends by her acquaintances and is a general favorite with all.

Mr. Powers is one of Madisonville's most popular young men, sober, moral and upright, a thorough gentleman. He is engaged in the dry goods establishment of Bishop & Co., and is popular with everyone. He is also Captain of Company E, Kentucky National State Guard, of Madisonville.

Immediately after the ceremony, the newly married couple were driven to Dawson Springs, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will make their home in Madisonville with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Powers, on Center street, and will be at home to their friends after July 20th.

AGED CITIZEN GONE.

Charles Egloff Dies After Short Illness.
Leaves Large Family.

Charles Egloff, an old employee of the St. Bernard Mining Company, died Friday at eleven o'clock, after a short illness. He had been an employee of the St. Bernard Mining Company for a number of years and was a hard working, industrious man. Mr. Egloff was 67 years old and leaves a wife, ten daughters and two sons to mourn his departure. He was a member of the Catholic church, and was buried in consecrated ground at the Catholic Cemetery Saturday morning at eight o'clock. The bereaved family have the sympathy of their friends in their sorrow and trouble.

VALUABLE ANIMAL

Produces Nine Gallons of Milk Per Day.

Mrs. Mary E. Giles, of near Howell, is the owner of a Jersey cow which, it is said produces nine gallons of milk per day. The accumulation of lacteic fluid is so rapid that it has become necessary to milk her three times a day. The large quantity of milk does not include that which is consumed by the calf, which is permitted to lurch at intervals during the day.

APOLOGIES UNNECESSARY.

Publishers Have a Right to Present Accounts When Due.

Lafe Youngs' Capital depreciates the habit newspaper editors have of "cheapering" themselves by telling their readers that their woodsheds, coal bins and larders are empty and calling upon delinquent subscribers to pay up that the same may be replenished.

When men in other lines of business are in financial straits they conceal the fact from the public and go right on getting in debt and finally take the benefit of the bankruptcy law and tell their creditors to go to— But the moment an editor gets in a tight place that moment he tells the public all about it and thus destroys the little credit he may have, and then it is that, through compulsion, he asks a lot of fellows who have been reading his paper for from one to five, or it may be, ten years, to pay up, and then it is that those who owe him either refuse to pay a single cent or pay up and stop his paper, declaring that it is of no account and that they never read it anyway. Nearly all of them will say this. Did it ever occur to them that if they never read a newspaper they cannot know whether it is of no account or not? But this is a digression.

When a groceryman or a banker wants people to settle up he does not assign any reason therefor, except that the account is due. Why should a newspaper publisher assign reasons in demanding a settlement? It is nobody's business what he is going to do with the money. It is his due, and he is no more under obligations to enumerate the items he or his family are in need of than is the grocer or banker. The newspaper publisher has the same right to enforce collections as have men in other branches of business. But subscribers claim that, accounts usually being small, it is not treating them right to put their accounts in the hands of the proper parties for collection, when, in fact, the smaller the account the more inexcusable one is for not paying it.—Des Moines (Ia.) Democrat.

All Equal There.

Here is a beautiful gem from the funeral oration at the grave of Congressman Burn, delivered by the late John J. Ingalls: "In the democracy of death all men are at last equal. There is neither rank nor station nor prerogative in the republic of the grave. At this fatal threshold the philosopher ceases to be wise and the poet is silent. Dives relinquishes his millions and Lazarus his rags. The poor man is as rich as the richest, and the rich man as poor as the pauper. The creditor loses his usury and the debtor is acquitted of his obligation. There the proud man surrenders his dignities, the politician his honors, the worldling his pleasures, the invalid needs no physician, and the laborer rests from his unrequited toil. Here at last is nature's final equity. The wrongs of time are redressed, injustice is explained, the irony of fate is refuted, the unequal distribution of wealth, honor, capacity, pleasure and opportunity, which makes life so cruel and inexplicable a tragedy, ceases in the realm of death. The strongest there has no supremacy and the weakest needs no defense. The mighty captain succumbs to the invincible adversary who disarms alike the victor and the vanquished."

When a man slaps the public in the face he need not expect it to drop on his knees and kiss his hand.

GONE TO REST.

Mrs. Mary E. Fox, an Old Citizen of This Place, Passed Away
Sunday Afternoon at One O'clock.

HAD BEEN ILL SEVERAL MONTHS.

Mrs. Mary E. Fox, wife of Isiah Fox, of this place, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Jno. W. Twyman, Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Fox had been in bad health for several months. She was a member of the Baptist Church at this place and a noble Christian woman. She was born in this vicinity nearly seventy years ago and has lived in and near Earlinton all her life. Mrs. Fox leaves a husband and two sons, Frank and Hamp, and a daughter, Mrs. Twyman, besides a large number of friends, to mourn her loss.

Funeral services were held at the residence. An appropriate talk was made by Mr. J. R. Evans, after which the remains were interred at Grapevine cemetery, six miles from this place.

Her life's work was finished, she had fought a good fight and kept the faith therefore God in his infinite wisdom saw fit to release her from pain and suffering here below and take her home. To a home not made with hands eternal in the heavens. How it cheers the drooping heart and dries the falling tears of the aged husband and loving children to be able to say of the wife and mother asleep at old Grapevine "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

Giannini-Doyal.

Mr. Chas. Doyal and Miss Goldie Giannini, both of Providence, were happily married at the residence of the bride's parents last Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The wedding was a very quiet event, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Hesson, of the Methodist church, and a few minutes after it was over the bride and groom left on the Evansville accommodation for Madisonville, taking the south bound train there for Drakesboro, where they will visit a sister of the groom, Mrs. Robert Bridges, for several days.

The newly wedded couple are popular and prominent young people and have a large number of friends.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Giannini. She is accomplished, strikingly handsome and has numerous admirers.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Doyal, of Providence. He is a young man of sterling worth and is respected and liked by all his acquaintances. He holds the position of flagman on the Providence accommodation and is a good railroad man.

WILL HAVE NO OPPOSITION.

Captain Walter Powers Likely to Be Promoted.

Capt. Walter Powers, of Co. E, Kentucky National State Guard, of Madisonville, is a candidate for the office of Major of the second battalion of the 3rd regiment. It is more than likely that the guardmen will select him for the office when the election is ordered by the Adjutant-General.

Can't be true that Ma is flirting with Mr. Toullan, chief of the Chinese bandits? We'll tell Pa.

FILIPINO STUDENTS BARRED.

Kept Out of a Louisville School on the Color Line.

Louisville, Ky., July 6.—The state board has instructed the high school board to inform four Philippine students, who applied for admission to the Dupont manual training high school, that their color bars them from the privileges of the public schools. When the request that the Filipino boys be allowed free admittance to the school was presented to the board, Dr. R. E. Galvin inquired if Filipinos are not negroes. Prof. Mark said he had investigated the law as to the separation of races in the schools and found that the word "applied" except white children—negroes, Indians and those of the brown races.

KILLED AT A PICNIC.

Quarrel Over a Woman Results in the Death of Henry McLain, Colored.

At a picnic at Edmonds park, near Madisonville Saturday night given by negroes, Henry McLain was shot twice and fatally wounded by one Kindoll. The two men became involved in a quarrel over a dusky dame from Hopkinsville, when Kindoll, who has the reputation of being a bold, bad black man, opened fire on McLain, shooting him through the hip and also through the left side. He was at once removed home and medical aid summoned, but nothing could be done and he died the following afternoon.

Kindoll made good his escape and is thought to be in hiding somewhere near Madisonville. He has one term in the pen to his credit for being implicated in the killing of a white man, named Groves, several years ago. McLain was about 35 years old, married and owned his own home. He had the reputation of being a quiet, industrious, hard working man and was for several years an employee of the Reinecke Coal Company.

In Demand Since the Slocum Disaster.

At New York, about 25,000 new life preservers are estimated to have been put in service on New York excursion boats since the Slocum disaster. All the manufacturers are working overtime, and the preservers are being added to the boats at the rate of 1,500 a day. Reinspection ordered by the Federal officials will begin within a few days.

A Correction.

THE BEE has been requested by the attending physician to state that Mrs. Wyatt, who was reported in last issue to be seriously ill with consumption, is not afflicted with that disease, but is ill with a complication of diseases.

Struck by Lightning.

Switchman Scruggs was struck by lightning while at work in the yard at Guthrie Monday. He was knocked down and badly injured, although not seriously. He was moved to his boarding house and medical aid summoned and at last report was getting along nicely.

Fine Vegetables.

W. C. McLeod brought in from his farm Wednesday some very fine vegetables. Among them was a head of cabbage weighing nine and one-half pounds. One pole bean vine seven and a half feet high, from which a gallon and a half of beans were gathered. None of the beans on it were less than eight inches long and some of them twelve inches long.

ONE BY ONE

They Pass Away—Uncle Oscar Stevens, One of Earlinton's Oldest Citizens.

CROSSES THE GREAT DIVIDE.

Another one of Earlinton's old citizens has gone to his long home, Uncle Oscar Stevens, who was for many years a familiar figure about the streets of this place, and one who numbered his friends by the score, died at Hanson Tuesday at 10 o'clock. He was 84 years old and made Earlinton his home until a few months ago when he and his wife moved to Hanson in order to be near their children. Uncle Oscar was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church and a good Christian man. His friends and admirers were many and enemies he had none. He leaves a wife and two daughters, Mrs. Ashby, of Madisonville, and Mrs. Parish, of Hanson, to sorrow for him. He was buried with Masonic honors at Mt. Zion cemetery at two o'clock Wednesday evening. The surviving members of the family have the deep and heartfelt sympathy of their many friends in their great loss.

DROWNED AT LINTON.

Hugh McElwain Brought to Barnley for Burial Wednesday Morning.

Hugh McElwain, the son of J. H. McElwain, of Linton, Ind., was drowned with a companion while bathing in White river near Linton Sunday. His remains were brought to Barnley Wednesday morning on train 53 and the interment took place at Grapevine Wednesday evening. He was a young man, grown and a coal miner. His parents moved from Barnley to Linton several months ago. He was a hard working, deserving young man and the friends of the family extend deep sympathy to them in their trouble.

TOMMIE TODD

Injured While Loading Heavy Timber at Arnold Mine.

Tommie Todd who is employed at the Arnold mine, was injured at that place Monday while loading some heavy timber. He and two other men were loading a 10x10, 16-foot, piece, when for some cause one of the men dropped the timber and the full weight fell on Todd, bearing him to the ground. Had it not been for the prompt assistance of the men working with him he would likely have received serious injury.

Drowned While in Bathing.

Virgil Neisz, residing in the vicinity of Dalton and a short distance from Tradewater river, was drowned in that stream Sunday afternoon. He had gone bathing in the stream with a number of small companions. The boy was 18 years of age and one of the oldest of the crowd who went with him to the stream. The river was considerably higher than usual at the time of year owing to the recent hard rains, and the current was very swift. The boy was caught in the current and swept from the aid of the little fellows who attempted to rescue him.

Young Neisz was the son of J. A. Neisz, a farmer well-known all over the county. Besides his parents, he leaves several sisters and brothers.

Cheasley Shank, the fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shank, of Madisonville, was drowned while in swimming in the new pond of the Royal Coal Company, near that place, Tuesday. LABOR LEADERS FIGHT.

Jim McGill, of Journal of Labor, Assaults an Organizer in Saloon.

Louisville, Ky., July 13.—Jas. McGill, publisher of the Journal of Labor, was arrested yesterday morning on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Henry Fisher, of 215 East Broadway.

The alleged assault took place at Second and Jefferson streets early yesterday morning after a stormy session of the Central Labor Union at Beck's Hall Monday night. Fisher is President and Organizer of Tobacco Workers' International Union.

At the meeting Monday night the proposition of merging the Central Labor Union and the Federated Trades Council, the two local unions, into one body was brought up, but no definite action was taken.

During the meeting Fisher made a speech, in which he referred to McGill and several other members of the Central Labor Union as "graffers," and said the only way the merger could be accomplished would be to remove these men from the union.

McGill, who was present, attempted to make a speech in his own behalf, but was not allowed to do so, as Fisher claimed he was not a regular delegate to the meeting. The meeting adjourned shortly after midnight, and Fisher, with several friends, went to Nick Bosler's saloon at Second and Jefferson streets.

While they were there it is alleged that McGill entered the place and, stepping up to Fisher, hit him a stinging blow in the jaw. Friends of both parties interfered, but before the men were separated Fisher was badly beaten. Yesterday morning he took out a warrant for McGill's arrest. Fisher says he will engage an attorney and prosecute the case. McGill refused to talk of the case. He was released on $200 bond.

For nearly four years I suffered from ovarian troubles. The doctor insisted on an operation as the only way to get that, I, however, strongly objected to an operation. My husband felt disheartened as well as I, for home was a woman in a disconcerting place at best. A friendly druggist advised him to get a bottle of Wine of Cardui to me to try, and he did so. I began to improve in a few days and my recovery was very rapid. Within eighteen weeks I was another being.

Two very excellent boat races took place on the lake Sunday afternoon, one between four young ladies and the other one between two young ladies and two young gentlemen. In the first race it was impossible to keep both boats going in the same direction, consequently this race was declared off on account of the erratic movement of the larger boat. The second race was close, and some good rowing was done by both parties, although the judges, as usual, decided in favor of the ladies.

The New York Times contains the following on Senator J. C. N. Blackburn:
"We Southern men," said Joe Blackburn, "often look at a pretty woman much as we would at a picture, admiringly, courteously, but never impudently. It was in this way that I not long ago rested my eyes upon a very handsome young woman who was walking up and down the platform at the station at Washington waiting for her train."
"Soon she turned and saw me."
"Rubber!" she exclaimed, and shrugged her shoulders with a frown.

"I took off my hat."
"Madam," said I, "I beg a thousand pardons. I took the liberty of admiring you because I thought you were the real thing."

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS

Stories of railroad accidents were being told at Tuxedo, says the New York Tribune. Spencer Trask, banker and broker, of New York, said:

"In a certain railway collision one of the victims lay for a long time on his back across the ties. Finally two men picked him up, carried him to the station and placed him on the floor.

"He'll lie easier here," they said, "till the doctor comes."

"The doctor came a little later.

"The poor chap is done for, I'm afraid," he said, glancing at the prostrate victim.

"Then he knelt down, lifted one of the man's closed eyelids, and peered into a dull, blank, unseeing, lifeless eye.

"Yes, he's dead all right. Take him away," said the doctor. "But the pale lips of the injured man moved slightly, and a feeble voice murmured:

"That was my glass eye, you fool."

A well known railroad man tried his hand the other day on writing poetry. It took him longer to find a subject than it did to write. He was unable to see poetry in anything until he saw an Irishman working with a pneumatic tool. Then he scribbled: Young Patrick was quite grammatic, and chatted so intensely emphatic, that 'twas impressed 'pon folks addressed that Patrick was somewhat pneumatic.

What came near being a fatal accident was the staggering of John Wilkins, a coal miner, under the influence of liquor, against the engine of train 72 at Rentchlers, Ill., the other day. The train was moving at the rate of at least fifteen miles an hour. Wilkins was walking between the tracks. When the train passed he lost his equilibrium and toppled over toward the engine, but was not injured.

"When train 41 (The Shawnee-town Accommodation) was coming around a curve near Carmi, Ill., Fireman J. C. Coker caught sight of a hand car coming in the direction of the train, and becoming frightened he jumped off the engine, which was going 30 miles an hour, injuring him so badly that he had to be taken to the hospital at Evansville. The section men jumped and were not injured.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time I tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and I have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine."

This remedy is for sale by St. Bernard Drug Store, Earlington; Ben Y. Robinson, Morton Gap; John X. Taylor, Earlington.

Of course the University of New York, which is going to confer the degree of Master of Letters on Mrs. Russell Sage at the commencement exercises, isn't biddin'.

MINING NOTES.

The Louisville Herald of Friday says:

C. J. Norwood, State Geologist, arrived in the city last night and was a guest at the Louisville Hotel. He is on his way to Western Kentucky, to make detailed inspections of the rich coal fields of that section and set a party to work.

"Although these beds of coal," he said, "are older than any in the State, they are the most difficult, and we really know less about them. I am going down now to Union and Webster counties to start in a party of the survey, and I think some of these puzzles will be solved. For instance, one very important thing about coal fields is a knowledge of the distances apart of the different deposits of the minerals—this being most requisite to mining—and this fact concerning the western counties has never been known. The party whose early work I will supervise is of the State survey. You know, out of the $15,000 appropriated by the last Legislature for a geological survey, $5,000 is to be used for work with the Federal survey and entirely for topographical work. With the remaining $10,000 we are maintaining several parties of geologists in different parts of the State investigating the geological formation and deposits of all kinds, and shortly I expect to issue an exhaustive report on the oil fields, in which there is perhaps a wider and deeper interest than in anything else in this line."

Mr. Arthur Martin, of Morton Gap, visited relatives here last Thursday. Mr. Nick Straker, who has been ill since last November, resumed work last Thursday. The Webster County Coal Company is making fine progress on the shaft that they are sinking near Providence and have passed through No. 12 vein of coal. They will not have to go but a few feet deeper to strike No. 11 coal, where they will stop and work of putting in the coal plant will be pushed.

St. Louis, July 10.—An association has been formed of the exhibitors and custodians of the Mines and Metallurgy Building at the Fair. A Standing Committee has been formed, of which Wm. M. Bowron is Secretary, to promote co-operation between miners and exhibitors. This committee desires mining men to write to their Secretary as above at the Mines Building. This should be done before leaving home and on arrival he will have ascertained just what is available at the Fair on their specified lines. His services are gratuitous. This will save both time and bother to visitors and enable them more completely to cover their lines than they could independently as strangers to the grounds.

WALKING ON WAGERS.

J. H. Owens is Traveling to St. Louis in a Unique Way.

Quite a good deal of interest was created on the streets this morning by a strange man walking up and down, trundling a curious kind of wheelbarrow. The man was J. H. Owens, of Atlanta, Ga., and he is walking to St. Louis with his wheelbarrow on a wager of five hundred dollars that he will average twenty miles per day. When he reached here his cyclistometer registered 40 miles and he says he is about seventy miles ahead on his average so far. He left Atlanta about three weeks ago and is accompanied by Mr. M. B. Duke. Incidentally he has his barrow covered with advertisements, which will net him a nice income.

Never growl because a newspaper fails to give every scrap of news, so long as you take the pains to give the editor information. We have heard of readers who are awfully put out at times because we fail to note the arrival or departure of those visiting them or of social affairs. The average newspaperman isn't a mind reader and gets most of his news by "pumping."

What They Tell Out in Kansas.

A writer in the Globe-Democrat says: We have had some amusing ourselves out of the prodigious dimensions of the Inside Inn; also have dealt with its name in a spirit of persiflage from time to time. The Inside Inn has been a fountain of pleasure, and it will continue to be. With all their familiarity with extremes in Kansas, they are still amused with the size of the Inside Inn. One returning visitor to Abilene, Kan., tells his experience to the local paper: "My room was 5415, three blocks away from the public square and a mile south of the hotel. When I got my key and my bell boy I sat down and waited an hour for a street car, but they told me there wasn't a line in the whole place—not even a hack line. I had to walk all the way to my room—more than two blocks on the way—but there were plenty more. There are more bell-boys than there are guests. They use 'em for change. When you give the clerk $5 for your room he hands you a room key and a bell boy. My room was a little far away for me, but I made it nicely. I started for supper at 9 a. m. and stopped for lunch on the way with a friend I knew in room 2067. But a friend of mine who lived in room 7449 was not against it. He got two days behind with his meals living out in the country at the rear end of the hotel. Finally, he found that he was near Moberly, Mo., than he was to the dining room, so he walked over to Moberly every morning. The Inn is a fine place. They treat you right and do their best to make you feel at home. I wanted the clerk to come out and play a game of billiards with me one morning and he said he would as soon as he had 1114 new guests taken care of. But when he got through with them there were 1119 more waiting, so we had to give it up. He didn't remember me the next morning until I told him my name. I wonder why that was?"

Take No Substitute.

"Restoring Sanity."

(Globe-Democrat.)

Such is the headline placed by a Democratic reorganizer paper over its report of the national convention now in session in St. Louis.

The phrase seems more than a congratulatory. Should a party that confessed to having been so demoralized for eight years be placed in control of the country? Who can certify that the cure is permanent? Why ask the people of the United States to forget the long period of anarchy and put the reins of power in the hands of the party subject to dangerous lapses? The Democratic party may have been out of its head when it twice cast more than 6,000,000 votes to drag the country down to a deplorable standard. But it was the Republican party that saved the nation from that mistake—'till blight. A Mississippi Democratic speaker says it was "an act of God" that bestowed upon the country the prosperity that has existed since 1867.

The Republican party is content to be identified with the right that prevails.

Any spectator who witnessed the Democratic convention of 1896 and looked up upon the convention yesterday could hardly believe the evidence of his eyes that the same party was in control of both assemblies. In one Cleveland was slighted and dejected; in the other his name created enthusiasm of the day. In one Bryan was the hero, in the other he was—but wait, Bryan's valuation in this convention is not finally fixed. The Democratic party is shuffling off its platform and leaders of the past few years. And it is vaunted as "restoring sanity" and a reason why the Democratic party should be permitted to bring upon the people another era of calamity. By its own confession of prolonged dementia the party at best is a suspect, and will be treated as such by right-minded voters.

"Do It Today."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til to-morrow what you can do to-day," that is the terse advice we want to give you about that itching cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for your cough and let the doctor be Dr. Boecher's German Syrup, which has been in use for thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep seated your cough, even if dread consumption has already begun, the German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

What the Telegrams Said.

"A young lady up in Carmel, after long fishing for a wealthy old man, finally succeeded in landing him," says the North City, Ill. Record.

"They left on their wedding tour so soon after the ceremony that the bride's friends had no time to tender congratulations, and so they sent them by wire. On arriving at their home at the Great Northern in Chicago a bunch of telegrams were awaiting the bride. Handling them to her aged hubby, she said: 'You read them, darling.' Darling did, and this was what he read: 'Glad to know that you nailed the old skinflint.' 'When you catch a black cat, shave him.' 'Make the old miser shell out.' 'If it's a good thing don't let it get away.' 'Thank him as he's old won't live long.' 'If you hear of any rich, unmarried old beast with one foot in the grave, put me next.' What 'darling' said is unprintable."

Safeguard the Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done today by boards of health and other public bodies, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather and summer months in the large cities. There is not probably one case of bowel complaint in a hundred, however, that could not be cured by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

REPORT INCREDIBLE DISASTER TO THE JAPANESE ARMY.

St. Petersburg Reports 30,000 Japs Blown Up by Russian Mines.

Unconfirmed Story of Awful Loss
Before Port Arthur.

RUSSIANS WILL PRESS ADVANTAGE.

St. Petersburg, July 13.—5:35 p. m.—This city was thrown into a fever of excitement this afternoon by the news that the Japanese had failed in an assault on the fortress opposite Port Arthur on Sunday night, having been repulsed with a loss said to reach 30,000.

The original report reached St. Petersburg last night in the form of a newspaper dispatch from Mukden, and was received with incredulity, but at noon when Viceroy Alexieff officially telegraphed the news to the general staff it created a tremendous impression. It was immediately transmitted to the Official Messenger and a few minutes afterward the newsboys were racing through the streets electrifying the crowds with the tidings. The boys were fairly mobbed by people eager to buy extras.

Somewhat Vague.

The members of the general staff do not offer explanations of what Admiral Alexieff means by "Japanese sources," but they declare that the viceroy would not have officially reported such important news unless it had reached him from sources entirely worthy of credence. At the same time they say the report should be accepted with reserve, pending the receipt of more definite advices.

In support of the report, however, they point out that the date coincides with the second attempt of Admiral Togo's torpedo boat destroyers to creep into the harbor. It is true that Togo does not mention a land attack, but this is not his province. The loss of 30,000 of the besiegers in an attack against fortifications with guns in position and the approaches sown with mines is considered quite within the range of possibility, if the Japanese, as on other occasions, stormed the fortifications with their accustomed recklessness, and especially if the mines were exploded under masses of men.

Russians Will Press Advantage.

The general staff already had information that the besiegers had occupied Taku Shan hill, three miles northeast of the harbor, but added that the Japanese were unable to hold the position. If the report of the loss of 30,000 Japanese is confirmed Gen. Nodsu's army is in desperate straits, as Gen. Stoessel will not fail to take advantage of such a reverse and follow it up.

one-half. The effect of the strike upon the mechanical and other departments, it is declared, will increase this army of unemployed in Chicago before the end of the week to nearly 35,000.

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Tobacco Has Made Fine Growth, Corn Well Advanced, Some Wheat Damaged.

Louisville, Ky., July 12, 1904.

The Government weekly report of crops for the Kentucky section, just issued by Major H. B. Hersey, director, says:

Abundant showers occurred during the week over the greater portion of the State. Some local damage was reported, but conditions were generally much improved. The temperature was about normal throughout the week.

Wheat is all harvested, but threshing was delayed by rain. In some localities in the western part of the State it has been damaged in the shock by the frequent rains.

Tobacco has made a very rapid growth. There is some complaint of freckling in a few localities in some of the western counties, but tobacco looks quite promising generally.

Corn has advanced well. The early planting has been laid in in good condition. The crop is rather late, but it is vigorous and shows good color.

Oats have improved and are about ready for harvesting.

Garden vegetables and Irish potatoes are unusually good.

Fruit is not doing so well. Apples are dropping badly and are generally imperfect, and peaches are rotting on the trees. Blackberries look good and are ripening.

Hemp is generally doing quite well, though there is complaint in some localities of damage by brown rot.

Hay cutting, as well as other farm work, has been delayed by rain.

Pastures and meadows have improved quite decidedly.

MEAT FAMINE THREATENED.

Butcher's Strike Offers Unusual
Encouragement to the Vegetarian.

Eighty Thousand Men Alleged to be Involved in the Movement.

Chicago, July 13.—With no sign of weakening on either side, the only ray of hope in the butcher's strike situation today was the possibility that a striation may intervene to prevent a labor war fraught with suffering and privation to the strikers and heavy loss to the packers.

Nor is the effect of the strike confined to the employees and packers in the nine cities where the fight will be centered. The consuming public will bear a large share of the burden in higher prices for meats. Reports already have come from various cities that prices of the product have been raised. This advance, too, was said to be but a forerunner of others if the conflict continues long.

In addition to the 50,000 employees already on strike, upward of 30,000 more are involved indirectly, and most of them probably will be made idle before to night.

In addition to the slaughtering departments of all the plants being tied up, the strike affects branch industries in which such articles as butterine, soap, and combs are manufactured. The canning departments, where beans, soups and all kinds of meats are put up, are also hit hard, the union employees having gone out in a body. Forty thousand persons, approximately, find employment in the big packing houses in Chicago, and this number already has been reduced

Light Feed for Cows With Young Calves.

It is the custom of some to feed cows after they calve with warm slops; and then a hearty diet is given in order to get as much milk from them as possible.

This course is regarded with disfavor by one having much experience with such cows as likely to induce milk fever.

"It is," he remarks, "an error to suppose that taxing the stomach after the fatigue of parturition can be otherwise than harmful."

A drink of water and a little dry hay are enough for the first day, and the cow should have nothing but a little good hay for the first three or four days—nothing stronger until all the inflammatory symptoms are passed."

Points on Wheat Sowing

It has been shown in a way to admit of no doubt whatever that a great deal of the wincome for all crops depends on the manner in which the soil for the reception of their seed is prepared.

The old idea on this subject will no longer answer, and this applies to all the grasses and small grains, the seeds of which are mostly sown in the fall.

We may indeed correctly think of it as counting the same way regardless of the time of year at which a planting is made.

The yield, the growing, can be, actually, increased—at times it is increased enormously—if the working of the soil is as advised before the seed is sown or the plants are set out.

It is early, yet none too early, to think and plan about this matter in relation to the sowing of seed in the fall.

Have the plowing done just as soon as it is free to be given to the purpose of its next employment; and the harrowing and rolling to follow may be made to count right up to the time of giving it over to the new crop.

The idea is to work the land so as to encourage the germination of the seeds of weeds. All the weeds that germinate under these circumstances get killed by the harrowings given, and a splendid seedbed is the outcome.

An accomplished practical farmer, discussing the significance of properly preparing the land before planting the crop, holds that early working of the ground is also important.

"I believe," he says, "that every farmer has noticed that ground plowed early will retain the moisture longer than that given late plowing; and if one walks across a newly sown wheat field some morning when the weather is very dry, it will be noticed that the surface of the ground which was plowed early will be much damper than the ground plowed just before seeding time."

The probability is that it takes less labor to make a good seed-bed by early than it does by late working.

This same farmer makes other points in favor of early plowing. "I believe," he observes, "that it is not necessary to sow the wheat as soon if the ground is plowed and prepared thus early."

So treated, it will, on an average, make a quicker growth than it otherwise would. A point about this is that its chances of escaping the Hessian fly are in this way increased.

And so it is held that "the farmer who plows early and plows deeply, taking pains to prepare a first-class seed-bed, and sows good seed may be reasonably sure of a good crop."

THE TURKEY ON THE FARM.

The Business is All Right if Your Neighbor Isn't Doing It or Has a Nice Garden.

The turkey demands a wider range than any other domestic fowl. It is too nearly related to the wild bird to endure confinement, and when this is attempted it pines and fails to thrive. It delights in fresh air, and plenty of it, hence a roost on the fence or in an old tree is much preferred, winter and summer, to the most approved poultry house.

Those living on small farms had best confine their energies to other branches of the poultry department, no matter how alluring the turkey business may seem. In the end it will prove a disappointment; worse, the owners of neighboring gardens will be your enemies, for a turkey will go through a patch of cabbage in short order if opportunity is offered.

Again, if your neighbors are engaged in raising, think twice before you enter the list, even though there be good reason. Flocks will get together, and then trouble ensues. If all parties are honest, home-made leg bands will serve to identify the members of each flock. Stout cloth, as bedticking or denim, will serve the purpose. But if one of the parties is so inclined the leg bands may be removed—and then young safeguard comes up as testimony against you.

The grass farm never wears out, while the grain farm soon does.

The asparagus bed is now rewarding the man who is fortunate enough to have one.

Some good women are like hens in this, that they will make just as much fuss over one child as they will over half a dozen.

Knowing how and not doing a thing in the right way is just as profitless as doing it the wrong way and not knowing any better.

There is one kind of infanticide of which we heartily approve, and that is the killing of the weeds when they are young—very young.

Alfalfa as a food ration for stock is worth from 30 to 40 per cent more than clover and 60 per cent more than timothy for all young stock.

Some scientist has discovered that a dog fed on nothing but white flour will only live for fifty days. There are easier methods to get rid of dogs than this one.

A living spring or an artesian well is counted, and rightly, as a very valuable feature of the farm, but a good well and a windmill will give just as good results and can usually be more conveniently located.

The agricultural department reports from 15 to 20 per cent of all the peach orchards of the east entirely destroyed by the severe cold of the past winter. Peaches and 30 below is a combination which always brings disaster.

If fruit trees are once heavily mulched, the process must be continued, for the reason that when so mulched the feeding roots of the tree will work to the surface of the soil, and to remove the mulching is to expose them, to the injury of the tree.

No matter how liberally pigs are fed on slops, they should have access to all the pure water they want.

At least a dozen varieties of choice apples, suited to all seasons and tastes, should be grown for family use by every considerable land owner.

Four exports from the United States in 1903 were larger than in any preceding year in the history of our commerce, and aggregated practically 20,000,000 barrels.

There is a place on every farm for the bee, whether she get it in a nice, good hive or in a soap box, or in a gun wadded from a hollow tree. Where the sweet blossoms are the honey bee will be also.

Shooting in Boyd County.

Cattlesburg, Ky., July 11.—Chas. Fannin, a son of P. S. Fannin, one of the best known farmers in Boyd county, was shot and seriously wounded by Charles Hazlett. He is not expected to live. It seems that Fannin was driving along Bear creek road when he met Hazlett, who was riding horseback. They stopped and engaged in conversation, when Fannin playfully tapped Hazlett on the hat with his whip. Hazlett, who had been drinking, informed him that if he did it again he would shoot him. Fannin, who thought Hazlett was only joking, tapped him again with his whip, whereupon Hazlett drew his revolver and shot him, the bullet taking effect in his right side. Fannin was taken to his home at Catlettsburg, where he received surgical attention. Hazlett got away and has not been seen since the shooting. His home is in the neighborhood of Holt's Fork.

INAUGURAL PUBLIC SALE OF TOWN LOTS AND MANUFACTURING SITES.

THE FUTURE GREAT INLAND CITY OF THE SOUTHWEST.

Nortonville, at the Junction of the Illinois Central and L. & N. Railroads.

Surrounded on All Sides by Important Cities and Towns, Namely:

Evansville, Ind.; Nashville, Tenn.; Paducah, Owensboro, Henderson, Hopkinsville, Princeton, Russellville, Central City, Morganfield, Hodgenville, Eddyville, Fulton, Providence, Madisonville, Elktown, Smiths Grove and many others.

A Point at Which Over 80 Trains Pass Daily.

TO OCCUR ON WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY, JULY 20 AND 21, 1904.

Nortonville is the Center of the Great Coal Mining Interests of Western Kentucky.

The Nortonville Coal Co., having recently become possessed of the town site and 2,000 acres surrounding it, and having expended some of money in sinking shafts and opening magnificent coal mines surrounding the site, which are producing wonderful results, employing over 300 artisans and miners, the families of which form a population of 1,000 people, have determined to offer to the public an opportunity to become original participants in the inauguration of what it believes is destined to be, and which, by reason of its location and natural advantages, must, at an early date, be a very important inland city.

SOME OF THE ADVANTAGES OF NORTONVILLE.

Nortonville is the center of a fine agricultural section and sufficiently distant from Hopkinsville, Paducah, Evansville, Ind., Nashville, Tenn., and twenty other surrounding towns and cities above mentioned, all within a radius of twenty to fifty miles, to make it a distributing point for them and the adjacent country. The town site is a beautiful level valley, widening out to undulating hills, rich in coal and offering every inducement for the investor and the homemaker. The water supply is abundant, the climate and all other conditions are such as to justify the prophecy that with a little energy and enterprise on the part of its own people it will be one of the best inland towns in the State of Kentucky.

THE NORTONVILLE COAL COMPANY

Has demonstrated its faith in the merits and future prospects of this property by expending a half million of dollars in opening mines, building houses, improving the social and moral conditions and starting the various enterprises which are necessary for the well being of the present population. With magnificent railroad facilities and cheap fuel, the nucleus of a thriving town is already formed.

Inviting the co-operation of the world at large in their enterprise, the company will, on July 20 and 21, offer for sale lots and tracts in accordance with a map, which was ready for distribution July 1. Cheap accommodation for all who attend the sale will be provided, and the company will give a GRAND BARBECUE on the first day of the sale (July 20), to which all who attend the sale will be invited.

An effort will be made to secure reduced rates to parties attending the sale. The terms of the sale will be exceedingly liberal.

NEWS FOR THE FARMER.

The old hen is unprofitable. Do not keep laying stock much over the second year. This item will be disputed by people who believe they know something about the business, whereas they only think they know.

Stay with the hog and he will stay with you. The packers have made a hard fight to force the price down, but hogs are a safe market for corn.

It is generally agreed that a bushel of corn will make ten pounds of pork.

People who desire to obtain decent incomes from poultry farms must be sure that the hen can not be depended upon to do the hatching. The hen is all very well for a family affair, but not for business. Quantity calls for the incubator.

Forty years ago the farmers owned 55 per cent of the wealth of this country, but such has been the advance of manufacturing and railroad building that they now own but 22 per cent, though there has been no decline in agricultural values.

Horses are very much like men; give them useful employment the year round and they are all better for it. I find on close observation that the horses we work through the winter are the horses that can stand the rough usage of summer the best.

It is said that farmers in the Mississippi valley want 500,000 men to help them harvest their crops.
